

Psychology in Transplantation

Psychological support services to stem cell and bone marrow transplantation

6 November 2009

St James's Institute of Oncology, Leeds

King's Health Partners and SIGOPAC are hosting a one day event of joint thinking around the role, scope and aims of psychological support services in haematological transplantation. The day will consist of presentations and workshops, and will give specialist health professionals in the field the opportunity to share best practice.

Convenors

Dr Jane Haworth, St James' Hospital, Leeds Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust, Leeds
Anne Crook, King's College Hospital NHS Foundation Trust, London
Dr Alex King, Guy's and St. Thomas NHS Foundation Trust, London

Call for Speakers

We welcome proposals from speakers and workshop convenors focusing on service delivery models and psychological patient care.

Please email alex.king@nhs.net by 17 September 2009 with expressions of interest.

Register to attend

For further details on how to register to attend and the full programme will be available soon on the 'News and Information' pages at www.kingshealthpartners.org